

Yiyi (Rose) Liu UX/UI and Front-End Web

A full-time student currently pursuing a Master of Computer Science degree in Human-Computer Interaction. Interested in a broad range of subjects. Quick learner, team player, and motivated.

(514)883-7158
yy.r.liu@gmail.com
www.citruspop.net

Education

2014 – Present: Carleton University. M.CS in Human-Computer Interaction
2011 – 2014: McGill University. B.A. & Sc. in Cognitive Science, minor in English Literature
2009 – 2011: Marianopolis College. Arts and Sciences degree (DEC intégré)
2004 – 2009: Laurenhill Academy. Diplôme d'études secondaires (Secondary Studies Diploma)

Skills

Proficient in front-end web (HTML, CSS, Javascript) and digital graphics (Photoshop).
Comfortable creating personas, user stories, wireframes, and mockups.
Can conduct user testing, research, and requirements gathering.
Capable of performing heuristics analyses and cognitive walkthroughs.
Familiar with Java, Flash, and LaTeX. Basic knowledge of C, C++, and Python.
Native speaker of both English and Chinese (Mandarin). Basic fluency in French.

Experience

Research Assistant at the Geomatics and Cartographic Research Centre, Carleton University (2015-2016)
Teaching Assistant at Carleton University (2014-2016)
Co-president of the Students Association of Cognitive Science (2013-2014)
Undergraduate researcher for the Prometheus Project, McGill University (Summer 2013)
Undergraduate researcher at the McGill Game Research Lab (Summer 2012)
Webmaster and computer science stream representative for the Students Association of Cognitive Science (2011-2013)
Director of Media for the National Integrative Research Conference (2011-2013)
Member of the McGill Computer Taskforce (2011-2014)
Co-president of the Marianopolis Math and Physics Club (2010-2011)

References

Available upon request.